E. E. Schrimsher died at his home in this city Saturday afternoon at 4:40 of an abscess on the brain, after a week's illness. The funeral took place from the St. Johns Baptist church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Baptist preacher from University Park conducting the services. Interment in the Columbia cemetery. Mr. Schrimsher was aged 59 years and had been a resident of St. Johns for a period of 8 years. He leaves a widow, three sons and one daughter to mourn his loss, viz: Mrs. Schrimsher, Mrs. E. L. York, James, Early and Joseph.

The Bible conference and campmeeting of the United Evangelical church begins its annual session this coming Tuesday, July 22nd, and continuing until July 31st, at Quinby Park, seven miles north of Salem, on the Oregon Electric Railway line. Arrangements have been made for one and one-third fare from any point. Secure a receipt when you buy your ticket, and you will be entitled to one-third fare return. No better place to enjoy an outing, besides having the privilege of attending Bible conference and campmeeting. Tents may be secured for camping on the ground; also board at a reasonable rate.

This is the season of the year when a lookout should be kept for mad dogs. A report from Gresham states that fifteen cases have been reported there in the past few days, and from other parts of the state come reports of mad dog cases. Frank Griffith, a well known citizen of Portland, died last Friday from being bitten by a pet dog five weeks previous. He died of hydrophobia after 30 hours of the most excruciating suffering. In consequence the authorities of Portland have decreed that all dogs must be muzzled in that city during July and August. Another death from a like cause occurred in Portland Tuesday.

Sunday morning, June 20th, at 11 a. m. Hon. Mr. Hutton, Assistant Superintendent of the Oregon Anti-Saloon League, will speak in the Evangelical church, along the line of the cause he represents. He is a wide awake and enthusiastic speaker. Be sure and hear him. In the evening the regular service will be held; Christian Endeavor at 7 p. m.; preaching at 8 p. m. To all these services you are most cordially invited.

In last week's issue of the Review in which appeared the names of officers installed in Laurelwood Rebekah Lodge, No. 160, I. O. O. F., an omission was inadvertently made. Special mention should have been made of the pleasing and capable manner in which District Deputy President Tillie Hill performed her work, and also the beautiful work exemplified by the installing staff of Portland. This is the same drill that was put on at Medford at the Rebekah Assembly. The Captain, Mrs. Roadruck, deserves much credit in her easy and unassuming manner of managing the drill corps.

The Allspice Tree.

The pimento, or allspice, tree is cultivated in the West Indies and Jamaica. This beautiful tree usually grows to a height of about thirty feet. It has a straight trunk, much branched above and covered with a very smooth brown bark. The leaves vary in size and shape, but are always of a dark, shining green color. During the months of July and August the tree is in full bloom, the blossoms consisting of very fragrant small white flowers. In favorable seasons the pimento crop is enormous, a single tree often yielding a hundred or more pounds of the dried spice. The berries are picked while green, because if left on the tree until ripe they lose their pungent taste and are valueless. The green berries are exposed to the sun for a week or ten days, when they lose their green color and turn a reddish brown. When perfectly dry they are put in bags and casks for exportation. The odor and the taste of the pimento berries are thought to resemble a combination of those of cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves; hence the familiar name "allspice."

A Queer Fact About Vision.

In the eye itself certain things may go on which give us wrong sensations, which, although not truly illusions, are very much like them. Thus when we suddenly strike our heads or faces against something in the dark we see "stars," or bright sparks, which we know are not real lights, though they are quite as bright and sparkling as if they were. When we close one eye and look straight ahead at some word or letter in the middle of this page, for example, we seem to see not only the thing we are looking at, but everything else immediately about it and for a long way on each side. But the truth is there is a large round spot somewhere near the point at which we are looking in which we see nothing. Curiously enough, the existence of this blind spot was not discovered by accident, and nobody ever suspected it until Mariotte reasoned from the construction of the eyeball that it must exist and proceeded to find it.

He Would Push Too.

A gentleman with a well fed appearance who motored over from the nearest town to deliver his lecture, "The Art of Getting On," in the village schoolroom, concluded with a fine burst. "The successful man is the man who strives persistently. His motto is 'Push, and keep pushing,' for by that and that alone he reaches his goal." Before the audience made much headway with their clapping a small man at the back got in a laugh that might have come from a megaphone. The lecturer held up his hand for silence.

"You, too, my friend, will have to push," he commented. "So will you, I reckon," interrupted the small man. "There is half a dozen kids pinching the gasoline out of your motorcar to light a bonfire."—New York Telegraph.

An Awed Hunter.

A Maine hunter who is a crack shot tells a curious story about himself. While hunting one day he came upon a fine large deer more than two rods away. He attempted to raise his rifle to his shoulder, but his arm became suddenly paralyzed. All he could do was to stand there and watch the deer disappear in the distance. Then his arm resumed its normal condition, and he started on the trail once more. After awhile he came upon the deer a second time, and again the hunter tried to raise his rifle, and again his arm refused to serve him. Then he gave it up and went home, impressed with a sense of awe and a conviction that he had better leave that particular deer alone.

The Regret of His Life.

Sir William Grove, the eminent scientist and jurist, never forgave himself for not discovering the spectroscopic. "I had often observed," he said, "that there were different lines exhibited in the spectra of different metals ignited in the voltaic arc, and if I had had any reasonable amount of wit I ought to have seen the converse—viz, that by ignition different bodies show in their spectral lines the material of which they are composed."

Reperties.

Upon Fenelon telling Richelieu that he had seen the portrait of his eminence at the palace the cardinal sneeringly asked, "Did you ask it for a subscription for some poor friend of yours?" "No. The picture was too much like you."

Rather Desirable.

"I hope your father does not object to my staying so late," said Mr. Stabput as the clock struck 12. "Oh, dear, no!" replied Miss Dabs, with difficulty suppressing a yawn. "He says you save him the expense of a night watchman."—Harper's.

Like Cures Like.

Mrs. Kelly—This neighborhood seems a bit noisy. Mrs. Flynn. Mrs. Flynn—Yes; th' only toime it's quiet here is when th' elevated train goes by and drowns th' noise.—Puck.
